Featuring eminent personalities and their leadership journey

In the dynamic world of leadership, certain individuals stand out not just for their achievements but for the innovative paths they've carved. Our feature, "Eminent Personalities and Their Leadership Journey," delves into the lives of these trailblazers who have redefined what it means to lead with vision, resilience, and integrity. Through in-depth profiles and insightful narratives, we uncover the experiences, strategies, and philosophies that have propelled these leaders to the forefront of their fields. From transforming industries to inspiring change, their stories provide a blueprint for aspiring leaders and offer valuable lessons on navigating the complexities of modern leadership.

1. Arif Patel, an entrepreneur, Founder, Preston Trading

Arif Patel is an entrepreneur and business executive known for his contributions across multiple sectors, including garment manufacturing, real estate, and fashion. Arif founded Preston Trading, an engineering and oil exploration company, and heads AP Properties, significantly impacting Dubai's real estate market. Arif has pursued his undergraduate studies at the University of Central Lancashire and later earned a master's degree in petroleum engineering from Heriot-Watt University in Edinburgh, Scotland. Arif's journey began with his strong desire to make a positive impact on the world. From a young age, his curiosity led him to be fascinated with businesses and their operations. The defining moment of his journey was when he launched his first venture in the textile industry. Facing challenges early, Arif learned to be resilient and to develop a never give up attitude. Another significant moment was expanding into the real estate sector in Dubai. Even now, Arif's desire to learn and to be open to changes makes him stand out among many.

2. Nitin Jain: Transforming the PR Industry with Innovation

3. Dr Rachna Chhachhi, Cancer, Nutrition, Mental health therapist, MD, Kindness Practice Foundation

In 2009, when awareness for nutrition was barely starting, Dr Rachna Chhachhi pioneered holistic nutrition, a unique combination of specialised functional nutrition with yogic breathing, to bring down inflammation levels for those with lifestyle and specific chronic conditions like cancer and autoimmune. Today, after healing thousands of patients globally and a rich clinically evidenced body of work across 27 countries, Dr Chhachhi is invited to medical conferences to share her case studies. Author of 5 health books, she has many top corporate leaders as patients who publicly vouch for her healing impact on their health. And via her NGO, Kindness Practice Foundation (KPF), she works with large corporates like the Tatas, Indigo, Cargill, Google, Marico, UNAIDS, and runs projects on malnutrition, mental health and sustainability. "Our health is connected to the health of the planet," she explains. "Through the NGO, we create awareness on nutrition and mental health being connected." A much needed gap to be addressed.

4. Raushan Kumar.- Founder- Design Karkhana Pvt Ltd

An alumni of National Institute of Fashion Technology in New Delhi, Raushan's foray into entrepreneurial journey blossomed when along with two friends, he co-founded Design Karkhana Pvt Limited, a full-service design agency catering to diverse design, branding, and marketing needs. Delving deeper into client requirements, he noticed a significant gap between the briefs they provided and their actual needs and expectations. While they were experts in running their businesses, they often lacked in articulating their strategic needs. This disconnect created a challenge for both sides. "My desire to uncover the 'why' behind each project, shifted my focus from the 'how' and 'what' to the underlying purpose. This approach has resonated deeply with business
